Employment Law Briefing - July 2010 - Law Updates, Case Law & Free Guides for Employers

Welcome to July's Employment law briefing, a 'must-read' for all employers. This month's highlights include:

- Employers' FAQs - Holidays and Annual Leave - What are your rights?
- Employment Law Case Updates - TUPE and Constructive Dismissal
- Equality Act 2010 - What every employer needs to know
- Free HR Guide - How to form a winning team
- Forthcoming Employment Law Updates - Minimum Wage and National Insurance
- Have Your Say - What unnecessary laws and regulations should go?
- ICAEW Essex Awards 2010 - Photos and winners from this prestigious event
- Free Employment Law Consultation for your business

Park City continue to strive, on behalf of the 'employer', to reduce the burden of employment law that may in some cases hold businesses back. Particularly at a time when business leaders actually need to be free to concentrate on developing their businesses, in order to emerge strongly from the difficult economic situation in which we currently find ourselves.

Therefore, I would urge you to join with Park City and take advantage of the new government's invitation to nominate unnecessary laws and regulations online. For your convenience, the government's online nomination form can be accessed here. By lobbying the government together, we can influence and affect positive change for business.

On a slightly different note, Park City were recently proud and honoured to sponsor the prestigious Institute of Chartered Accountants England and Wales (ICAEW) Accountancy and Business Awards and in particular the prizes for 'Training Firm of the Year', which was awarded to Bird Luckin and 'Best Staff Development Scheme', awarded to Seymour House Partnership. I was privileged to judge and present the awards to these winners with whom we share values for continuous improvement and ongoing staff development. Further details and photos from the event can be found here.

In sponsoring these awards, Park City have demonstrated that we are at the forefront when it comes to supporting local businesses and we will endeavour, on behalf of our clients and local firms, to pursue an agenda of regulatory reform and a reduction in time-consuming red-tape, even in a difficult economic climate.

To find out more about how Park City can guide your company through the complex minefield that is employment law, call Jo Donnelly on 01206 752 100. Alternatively, take advantage of a free employment law consultation by one of our expert HR consultants.
